

We Are Different,
We Are the Same

So many friends, each with a beautiful face.
We are all part of the human race.

Some like to draw or doodle their name,
while others choose to play a game.

So many skin colors on each one of you,
beautiful colors all with a different hue.

Some kids use their voice to tell you their favorite color is green, while others use a cool machine.

Some kids might choose to take the stairs,
while other kids need to use their chairs.

So many hair colors, each with a style.
What makes us the same, is that we all can smile!

Some kids wear glasses or walk with a cane. Each set of eyes is never plain.

The world is beautiful with friends who do not look like you.

So be kind to everyone because we all have feelings, yes, we do!

Title goes here.

Text goes here.

Text goes here.