Snap Core First™

The power to fulfill my potential

A symbol-based communication app
guiding you from first words to literacy

Snap Core First is a symbol-based communication app custom-designed for AAC (augmentative and alternative communication). It's designed for all ages and stages of language development, accessible via touch, switch or eye gaze, and offers clear speech output.

Learning language, achieving literacy, and becoming an independent communicator is a journey with many stages – start yours today with Snap Core First.

Snap Core First is a companion for your communication, literacy, and learning journey

Grow and evolve

on your communication journey no matter if you're a symbol-based or literate user.

Built for more than communication with supports like environmental control, AccessIT 3 and data tracking.

Communicate immediately with tools that allow you to initiate and guide the interaction via touch, scanning, and eye tracking.

Designed for you

based on years of research, feedback, and user testing.

What makes Snap Core First different?

Snap Core First is based on the Core Word strategy and rooted in research by the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. It's built on three pillars for communication success:

1

Growth – Never lose what you've learned as you unlock additional vocabulary and new concepts.

2

Engagement – Start and guide conversations rather than just answering questions and making requests.

3

Literacy – Core words are important to putting together your own thoughts but also for early literacy learning.

Improved Learning Outcomes

Features that benefit both the user and communication partner are constantly being updated in Snap Core First. Some top features include:

- A core vocabulary, driven by Project Core, that grows systematically as the user progresses
- Easy grid size changes that add more vocabulary while also keeping custom content
- An interactive search feature which guides you through the steps to find vocabulary items
- Preprogrammed situational content to support asking questions, making comments, and making positive/negative statements
- Free resources such as Pathways, Core First Books and Lessons, and online training supports that help to teach the use of the system

Snap Core First is backed by access to a truly unparalleled and free ecosystem of content and resources.
